London, October 5.

On Saturday and Yesterday arrived the Mails due from Flanders and Holland.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Oct. 10.

Turin, September 23.

ON Tuesday last the Duke of Savoy returned to the Veneria from viewing his Places confining on the Milanese. The Prince de Villa-franca, Deputy from the Kingdom of Sicily, arrived here on Wednesday Night, and the next Day waited on their Royal Highnesses at the Veneria; and the Prince de Rocca Torjorita his Collegue, arrived on Thursday Night. The 21st the Duke of Savoy returned hither from the Veneria, with all his Court. The same Day the Marquis d'Angrogne Master of the Ceremonies went and gave Notice to all the Courts, and to all the Ecclesiastical and Secular Colleges, to repair the 22d in the Morning to Court in Ceremony, to compliment the King of Sicily, his Royal Highness taking upon him his new Title that Day. At the same time an Order was published for keeping all Shops shut three Days successively, and for illuminating all Houses three Nights. Yesterday (the 22d) in the Morning, all the Nobility kissed the King's Hand in his Bed-Chamber; after which his Majesty ascended the Throne in the Hall of Audience; and all the Chambers, the Senate, and the Magistrates were introduced to his Majesty by the Master of the Ceremonies, and had the Honour to kiss his Royal Hand, after their Presidents had made their several Speeches to him. The King was covered, as were likewise the Princes, who stood by the Throne under a magnificent Canopy. The like Ceremony was performed immediately after in the Queen's Apartment, with this Difference, that her Majesty did not receive the Nobility in her Bed-Chamber, but in her Chamber of State, before the Steps of the Throne, which she afterwards ascended to receive the Chambers, the Senate, &c. The Princes were uncovered, and the Princesses stood under the Canopy, with a great Number of Ladies. After this, the Court went to hear Mass in the Chappel of the Holy Suary; the Queen had the Right Hand of the Dutchess-Dowager, who after the Service was led back by the King her Son to the Palace, where she received all the Compliments in the same Manner as the Queen. All the Morning till One a Clock was spent in this Ceremony: The Court was numerous, and more splendid than ever before; but the King, the Princes, and the Knights, were not in Habits of Ceremony. The Garrison stood drawn up in Arms before the Palace, and gave divers Salvoes; the Trumpets and Drums placed in several Parts of the Palace, were heard all the Morning. In the Afternoon, the Clergy, and all the Religious Orders complimented their Majesties, as did also the Ladies. To Day Te Deum was sung; and this Evening a noble Firework will be plaid off. The Queen sets out to Morrow for Nice; the King will follow her Post on Tuesday or Wednesday next, his Majesty designing to embark with her at Villa-franca, to go and take Possession of his new Kingdom of Sicily. The Swiss-Guards, as also most of the Generals, the Officers of the Court, the Pages, and almost all the Ladies, who are to make this Voyage with them, are already gone for Nice.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Oct. 10.

Milan, Sept. 26. The Duke d'Uzeda is sent for to Vienna, where a Council is to be formed of 13 Ministers to have the Direction of the Affairs of Italy, of which Council the said Duke is to be President. The Duke of Savoy has given Order for fortifying Ceva, which is in the Neighbourhood of Pavia; and his Royal Highness causes the Troops he keeps towards the Milanese to be reinforced, under Pretext of hindring the spreading of the Contagious Distempers. We have Letters from Barcelona of the 12th of this Month, which relate, that there had been a vigorous Action near Vich, between a Detachment of 1500 Spanish Horse, and the Body commanded by Nebor, to the Advantage of the Catalonians; and that General Moragan being informed there were 6000 Sacks of Corn at Vusal, designed for the Duke de Popoli's Army, marched thither with 800 Catalonian Horse, and took all that Corn, which he sent to Blanes, to be transported to Barcelona. They add, that a Majorcan Ship laden with Provisions, was arrived safe at Barcelona, after having beaten two Spanish Gallies near Mongato.

From the Camp at Muhlberg, Oct. 2. The Body of the Enemy which had advanced towards the Black-Forrest, are retired to their Camp before Fribourg, on Advice that General Vaubonne was reinforced by 10 Battallions and 6 Regiments of Horse. Two Regiments of Hussars, 20 Squadrons, and 38 Battallions marched two Days ago from Vlyersbader, to joyn General Vaubonne; and Prince Eugene follows with some other Troops; so that we may happen to hear soon of an Action. The Duke of Wirtemberg remains here with 40000 Men, to observe the Marshal de Bezons.
